

A GENTLE, REAL-LIFE APPROACH TO FEELING BETTER

The Gut Health Reset Starter Kit

5-Day Reset Plan • Food List • Shopping Guide • Symptom Tracker

for the bloated, tired, "why won't my body cooperate" days

A LITTLE NOTE FROM ME

Before we start, I want you to know something.

Hi, friend. I'm really glad you're here.

If you've ever gone to bed with a flat stomach and woken up looking five months pregnant… if you've counted the days since your last "normal" bathroom trip… if you've eaten practically nothing all day and still can't figure out why the number on the scale won't budge — I've been there. All of it.

For years I thought something was wrong with my willpower. Turns out, it was never about willpower. It was about my gut — the part of my body nobody ever really taught me how to take care of.

This kit is the simple, no-pressure plan I wish someone had handed me back then. It's not a strict diet. It's not about perfection. It's five gentle days, a list of foods that actually love you back, a shopping guide so you're not standing in the grocery aisle overwhelmed, and a tracker so you can finally see your own patterns in black and white.

Go at your own pace. Skip a page if it doesn't apply to you. Write in the margins. Spill coffee on it. This is yours now.

Rooting for you,

— The friend who's been there too

GETTING ORIENTED

How To Use This Kit

There's no "right" way to move through this — but here's how it's organized, so you can jump to whatever your body needs most today.

1. Understand your gut
   Aquick,human explanation of why bloating, constipation, IBS flares, and stuck weight are often more connected than you think.

2. Follow the 5-Day Reset
   A day-by-day rhythm for meals, water, and movement. Simple swaps, not a strict diet.

3. Use the Food Lists
   Foods to lean into, fiber favorites, gut-loving ferments, and common trigger foods to simply notice.

4. Shop with the Grocery Guide
   Aready-madelistsoyouwalkinto the store (or open the app) already knowing what to grab.

5. Track how you feel
   A simple daily tracker so you can actually see what's helping — not just guess.

Tip: Print the tracker pages a few times, or fill them in digitally — you'll want more than one week's worth once you see your patterns start to show up.

SECTION ONE

Understanding Your Gut

Nobody sits us down and explains this, so let's keep it simple.

Your gut isn't just about digestion. It affects your energy, your mood, how clear your skin looks, how "puffy" you feel, and yes — how easily your body lets go of extra weight.

When your gut is out of balance — from stress, rushed meals, not enough fiber, not enough water, or years of yo-yo dieting — it tends to show up as:

Bloating that comes and goes with no clear reason

•Constipation or unpredictable bathroom habits

•IBS-type flare-ups after certain meals

•Feeling "stuck" no matter how little you eat

•Low energy, brain fog, skin breakouts

•The good news: your gut is one of the most responsive systems in your body. Small, consistent changes — the kind in this kit — tend to show up faster than you'd expect.

A QUICK, HONEST CHECK-IN

Does This Sound Like You?

Check anything that feels familiar. There's no score to calculate — this is just for you to notice.

- [ ] My stomach looks noticeably different by the end of the day
- [ ] I go days without a "normal" bowel movement
- [ ] Certain foods leave me gassy, crampy, or uncomfortable
- [ ] I feel tired even after a full night's sleep
- [ ] My weight feels "stuck" despite eating less
- [ ] I crave sugar or carbs more than I'd like to admit
- [ ] My skin breaks out for no obvious reason
- [ ] I feel anxious or foggy after certain meals
- [ ] I rely on coffee to "get things moving"
- [ ] I've tried cutting calories with little change

If you checked three or more — you're exactly who this kit was made for. This isn't a diagnosis, just a mirror. If symptoms are severe, ongoing, or worrying you, please also loop in a doctor. You deserve real answers, not just a workbook.

My Starting Point

Take two quiet minutes for this. It's not about judging where you are — it's about having something to look back on later.

Today's date: _____

Right now, my energy feels like: □ Low □ Okay □ Good

My digestion this past week has been: _____

The symptom that bothers me most is: _____

One thing I want to feel different by Day 5:

_____

Three foods I already know don't sit well with me:

1. _____ 2. _____ 3. _____

Come back and re-read this page after Day 5. Most people are surprised by how much shifts in just five days — even the small things.

SECTION TWO

The 5-Day Reset: Overview

This isn't a cleanse, and it isn't about restriction. Each day follows the same gentle rhythm — real meals, real food, nothing extreme.

The Daily Rhythm

- Warm water first thing in the morning
- Three balanced meals, no skipping
- One gut-loving snack if you need it
- A short walk after at least one meal
- Lights out a little earlier than usual

The Gentle Rules

- Eat slowly — put the fork down between bites
- Drink water between meals, not during
- Notice, don't obsess — this is data, not a report card
- If a swap isn't available, use what you have
- Progress over perfection, always

Each day page includes simple meal ideas and space to swap in your own. Use the Food List (pages 12–15) any time you want more options.

DAY ONE

Start Where You Are

Today is about noticing, not fixing. Just eat, sip, and pay attention.

Time	Meal / Focus
Morning	Warm water with lemon. Breakfast: oats or eggs with a handful of greens.
Midday	A protein + a cooked vegetable + a small serving of whole grain.
Snack	A piece of fruit or a small handful of nuts.
Evening	Light, warm meal — soup, stir-fry, or a simple grain bowl. Finish eating 2–3 hrs before bed.
Movement	A 10–15 minute walk after lunch or dinner.

Today's focus: Drink water steadily through the day instead of all at once.

DAY TWO

Add In, Don't Cut Out

Today's goal is simple: add one more fiber-rich food than yesterday.

Time	Meal / Focus
Morning	Warm water first. Breakfast: smoothie with greens, banana, and a spoon of chia or flax.
Midday	A big salad with a protein and an olive-oil based dressing.
Snack	Plain yogurt or kefir with a drizzle of honey.
Evening	Roasted vegetables, a lean protein, and a small portion of rice or quinoa.
Movement	A gentle stretch or 10 minutes of yoga before bed.

Today's focus: Chew slowly — aim for 20 chews before swallowing each bite.

DAY THREE

The Halfway Reset

You're halfway there. If today feels harder, that's normal — keep it simple.

Time	Meal / Focus
Morning	Warm water. Breakfast: overnight oats with berries and a spoon of ground flax.
Midday	Soup or stew with beans or lentils, plus a slice of whole-grain bread.
Snack	Cucumber or carrot sticks with hummus.
Evening	Baked fish or tofu, sautéed greens, sweet potato.
Movement	A relaxed 15–20 minute walk outside, if you can.

Today's focus: Notice how you feel 1 hour after each meal. Write it in tonight's tracker.

DAY FOUR

Steady Wins

This is often the day it starts to click. Keep going gently.

Time	Meal / Focus
Morning	Warm water. Breakfast: eggs with sautéed spinach and a slice of sourdough.
Midday	Grain bowl: quinoa, roasted veg, chickpeas, tahini drizzle.
Snack	A small handful of almonds and a piece of fruit.
Evening	Grilled chicken or tempeh, steamed broccoli, brown rice.
Movement	10 minutes of stretching or a short walk after dinner.

Today's focus: Get to bed 20–30 minutes earlier than usual. Sleep matters more than we give it credit for.

DAY FIVE

A New Rhythm

You made it. Today is about noticing what you'd like to keep.

Time	Meal / Focus
Morning	Warm water. Breakfast: yogurt or kefir bowl with oats, fruit, and seeds.
Midday	Leftovers, a salad, or your favorite meal from this week — repeat what worked.
Snack	Whatever felt good this week — trust yourself here.
Evening	A relaxed, home-cooked dinner with a vegetable, a protein, and a whole grain.
Movement	Whatever movement made you feel best this week — do more of that.

Tonight, ask yourself: What's one habit from this week I want to carry forward, even after today?

Gut-Soothing Daily Rituals

Food is half the story. These small rituals help your nervous system — and your gut is deeply connected to it.

Morning

- A glass of warm water before coffee
- Two minutes of quiet before checking your phone
- A slow breakfast, sitting down

Evening

- A short walk after your last meal
- Dim the lights an hour before bed
- A few slow breaths before you sleep

Hydration & Gentle Movement

Water, simplified

Constipation and bloating are often, at least in part, a hydration issue. Aim for steady sips through the day rather than a big glass all at once.

Movement, simplified

You don't need an intense workout. A short walk after meals helps digestion move things along — literally.

- 10-minute walk after lunch or dinner
- Gentle stretching or yoga before bed
- A few deep belly breaths when stressed

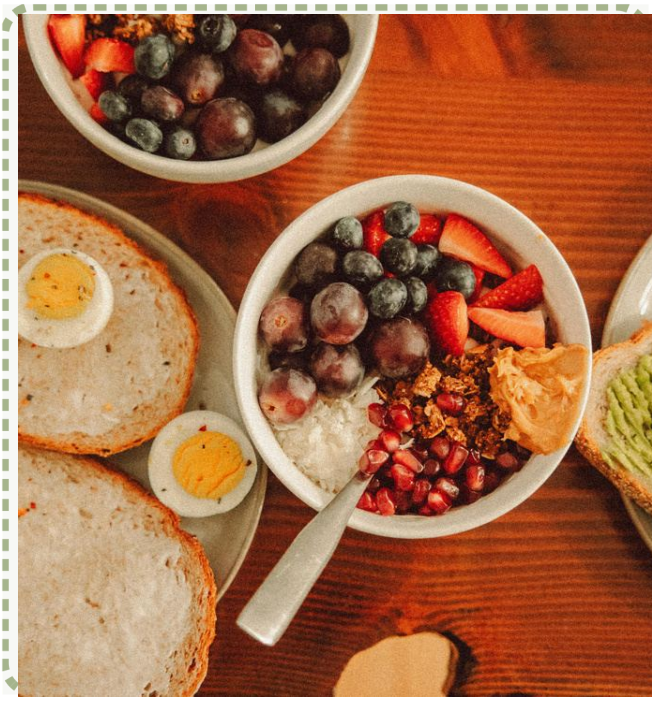

A simple rule: if you only change one thing this week, make it water + a daily walk. It's the lowest-effort, highest-return habit in this whole kit.

Foods To Enjoy

These are gentle, gut-friendly staples to build meals around this week and beyond.

Vegetables

- Leafy greens (spinach, kale, arugula)
- Cooked carrots, zucchini, squash
- Steamed broccoli & cauliflower
- Cucumber, bell peppers

Proteins

- Eggs
- Chicken, turkey, fish
- Tofu, tempeh
- Lentils, beans (as tolerated)

Grains & Fats

- Oats, quinoa, brown rice
- Sourdough bread
- Olive oil, avocado
- Nuts & seeds

Not sure where to start? Pick two vegetables, one protein, and one grain from this page and build tomorrow's meals around them.

Fiber Favorites

Fiber is one of the biggest levers for constipation and steady digestion. Add these in slowly, with plenty of water alongside.

Soluble Fiber (soothing, gel-like)

- Oats
- Chia & flax seeds
- Apples, pears (with skin)
- Beans & lentils
- Carrots

Insoluble Fiber (helpsthings move)

- Whole grains
- Leafy greens
- Broccoli
- Nuts & seeds
- Fruit & vegetable skins

FOOD LIST

Probiotic & Fermented Foods

These help support the good bacteria in your gut. Start with small amounts and see how your body responds.

- Plain yogurt
- Kefir
- Sauerkraut
- Kimchi
- Miso
- Kombucha (low sugar)

New to fermented foods? Start with a spoonful, not a bowlful. Your gut adjusts best with small, steady steps.

FOOD LIST

Foods To Notice

Everyone's gut is different — a food that bothers one person may be totally fine for another. These are common ones people find worth paying attention to. Use your tracker to see your own patterns rather than cutting anything out blindly.

- Fried & heavily processed foods
- Excess added sugar
- Carbonated drinks
- Very large, heavy meals
- Excess caffeine or alcohol
- Artificial sweeteners
- Foods eaten too fast, on the go
- Whatever you already know bothers you

This isn't a list of "bad" foods. It's a list of usual suspects — worth a gentle experiment, not permanent guilt. If you suspect a real food intolerance or ongoing IBS symptoms, a doctor or registered dietitian can help you get real, personalized answers.

KEEPING IT REALISTIC

Budget-Friendly Swaps

Gut-friendly doesn't have to mean expensive. A few honest swaps:

Instead of	Try
Fresh berries	Frozen berries (same nutrition, longer shelf life)
Pre-made kombucha	Plain yogurt or a small sauerkraut jar
Specialty gut supplements	Whole food fiber & ferments first
Fresh fish weekly	Canned salmon or sardines
Pre-cut veggies	Whole veggies, chopped at home
Bottled smoothies	Frozen fruit + spinach + yogurt, blended at home

Buy fewer things, more often — and lean on frozen produce. It's just as nutritious and rarely goes to waste.

Daily Symptom Tracker

Fill this in each evening. Be honest, not harsh — this is information, not a report card.

Non-Scale Wins Journal

Gut healing shows up in ways a scale can't measure. Jot down anything that counts as a win — however small.

- [ ] My clothes felt less tight around my middle
- [ ] I had a regular, easy bathroom day
- [ ] I had more energy in the afternoon
- [ ] I slept better
- [ ] My skin looked clearer
- [ ] I felt calmer after meals
- [ ] I noticed less bloating by evening
- [ ] Other: _____

FOR THE HARD DAYS

A Letter For When It Feels Slow

If today didn't go perfectly — you didn't fail. There's no failing here.

Gut healing isn't a straight line. Some days will feel lighter, some days won't, and that's not a sign to quit — it's just a body doing what bodies do.

Come back to page one if you need to. Reread the letter. Then just do the next small thing: a glass of water, a short walk, a real meal.

You're allowed to go slow. Slow still counts.

BEFORE YOU GO

Thank You For Trusting This Kit

You showed up for yourself this week, and that matters more than any number.

Keep the food list on your fridge. Keep tracking, even loosely. And whenever you need a reset, this kit will be here — no judgment, no starting over from zero.

With so much care,
— The friend who's been there too
